

Avoid fines with ATO approved Payroll Software for STP compliance.

With the new financial year underway, there is still time to get your Single Touch Payroll (STP) setup sorted so that you will avoid those ATO penalties.

The ATO's single touch payroll rule became mandatory a year ago, on July 1st, 2019, and the ATO has said they will start issuing fines from July for any business that is not compliant.

So now is the time to get organised. I can hear you saying, how do you do this?

As a small business owner, the first thing you need to ask yourself is:

“What is the quickest and easiest way that I can become ATO STP compliant.”

The answer to this question means identifying a way that fits in with how you run your business and how you run your life. There are many different solutions (apps & software's) out there, and it can be challenging to find the one best suit you.

We would suggest that you consider prioritising some key features:

- Quick and easy setup (less than 10 minutes)
- Knowledgeable and Australian-based customer support
- The flexibility that fits in with your business and lifestyle

When you are ready to start, the first step is to get together some simple details:

1. Information about your business: Your ABN and Business address
2. Information about your employees: Their tax file number, their email address, their pay details

Once you've got that information, it's time to select a payroll software that can do the work for you. You want to ensure that you're covered for the features you need, such as:

- Quick and simple payslips
- STP compliance
- Superannuation tracking
- Holiday and sick leave

- Additional payslip options like overtime, other base rates, allowances, deductions, bonuses, commissions and directors' fees
- Useful reports
- Access that suits you, such as from a website, tablet or mobile phone
